Sheriff Todd Goodwin
Accomack County Sheriff's Office
P.O. Box 149
Accomack, VA 23301

Dear Sheriff Goodwin:

The American Civil Liberties Union (“ACLU”) of Virginia is dedicated to protecting and expanding the freedom to vote for all Virginians 18 and over. Accordingly, we want to be sure sheriffs and superintendents of regional jails are aware of and fulfill their duty to protect the voting rights of all those who are currently detained in Virginia jails while awaiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, §1. Preventing someone from exercising their voting rights is illegal and undermines the presumption of innocence that is integral to our criminal legal system. This is also important because national statistics show that people of color and low-income individuals are disproportionately represented in jail populations. See Jail Inmates in 2017, Bureau of Justice Statistics (Apr. 2019), available at https://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/ji17_sum.pdf.

Virginia law permits “[a]ny person who is confined while awaiting trial or for having been convicted of a misdemeanor” to request an absentee ballot if their trial or release date is scheduled within three days preceding the election. Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). Virginia law also requires that, upon the request of any person who is confined awaiting trial in the same city or county where they are a resident, the individual “be taken to the polls to vote on election day if his trial date is postponed and he did not have an opportunity to vote absentee.” Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). This means that all registered voters detained in jail can request an absentee ballot and, under certain circumstances, must be taken by jail officials to a polling site on Election Day.

The deadlines for absentee ballots for the November 5, 2019, General Election are as follows:

- Absentee ballot by mail application request: 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, October 29, 2019.

- Absentee ballots to be returned to local general registrar's office: 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, November 5, 2019.

Sheriffs and superintendents have a duty to ensure those currently detained in jails are allowed to vote. Persons who are detained waiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence are two of the groups privileged to vote absentee under Virginia's excused-based absentee voting law. Sheriffs and superintendents should honor the voting rights of jail residents by disseminating voting rights information, inviting registrars to facilitate registration of eligible voters in their facilities, asking eligible individuals whether they wish to apply for an absentee ballot, and taking other steps to protect the voting rights of all eligible Virginians in their custody.

Sheriff W. Randolph Hamilton
Buena Vista Sheriff's Office
P.O. Box 1031
Buena Vista, VA 24416

Dear Sheriff Hamilton:

The American Civil Liberties Union (“ACLU”) of Virginia is dedicated to protecting and expanding the freedom to vote for all Virginians 18 and over. Accordingly, we want to be sure sheriffs and superintendents of regional jails are aware of and fulfill their duty to protect the voting rights of all those who are currently detained in Virginia jails while awaiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, §1. Preventing someone from exercising their voting rights is illegal and undermines the presumption of innocence that is integral to our criminal legal system. This is also important because national statistics show that people of color and low-income individuals are disproportionately represented in jail populations. See Jail Inmates in 2017, Bureau of Justice Statistics (Apr. 2019), available at https://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/ji17_sum.pdf.

Virginia law permits “[a]ny person who is confined while awaiting trial or for having been convicted of a misdemeanor” to request an absentee ballot if their trial or release date is scheduled within three days preceding the election. Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). Virginia law also requires that, upon the request of any person who is confined awaiting trial in the same city or county where they are a resident, the individual “be taken to the polls to vote on election day if his trial date is postponed and he did not have an opportunity to vote absentee.” Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). This means that all registered voters detained in jail can request an absentee ballot and, under certain circumstances, must be taken by jail officials to a polling site on Election Day.

The deadlines for absentee ballots for the November 5, 2019, General Election are as follows:

- Absentee ballot by mail application request: 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, October 29, 2019.

- Absentee ballots to be returned to local general registrar's office: 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, November 5, 2019.

Sheriffs and superintendents have a duty to ensure those currently detained in jails are allowed to vote. Persons who are detained waiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence are two of the groups privileged to vote absentee under Virginia's excused-based absentee voting law. Sheriffs and superintendents should honor the voting rights of jail residents by disseminating voting rights information, inviting registrars to facilitate registration of eligible voters in their facilities, asking eligible individuals whether they wish to apply for an absentee ballot, and taking other steps to protect the voting rights of all eligible Virginians in their custody.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. Emporia, VA 23847

Dear Sheriff Prince Jr.:

The American Civil Liberties Union (“ACLU”) of Virginia is dedicated to protecting and expanding the freedom to vote for all Virginians 18 and over. Accordingly, we want to be sure sheriffs and superintendents of regional jails are aware of and fulfill their duty to protect the voting rights of all those who are currently detained in Virginia jails while awaiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, §1. Preventing someone from exercising their voting rights is illegal and undermines the presumption of innocence that is integral to our criminal legal system. This is also important because national statistics show that people of color and low-income individuals are disproportionately represented in jail populations. See Jail Inmates in 2017, Bureau of Justice Statistics (Apr. 2019), available at https://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/ji17_sum.pdf.

Virginia law permits “[a]ny person who is confined while awaiting trial or for having been convicted of a misdemeanor” to request an absentee ballot if their trial or release date is scheduled within three days preceding the election. Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). Virginia law also requires that, upon the request of any person who is confined awaiting trial in the same city or county where they are a resident, the individual “be taken to the polls to vote on election day if his trial date is postponed and he did not have an opportunity to vote absentee.” Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). This means that all registered voters detained in jail can request an absentee ballot and, under certain circumstances, must be taken by jail officials to a polling site on Election Day.

The deadlines for absentee ballots for the November 5, 2019, General Election are as follows:

- Absentee ballot by mail application request: 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, October 29, 2019.

- Absentee ballots to be returned to local general registrar's office: 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, November 5, 2019.

Sheriffs and superintendents have a duty to ensure those currently detained in jails are allowed to vote. Persons who are detained waiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence are two of the groups privileged to vote absentee under Virginia's excused-based absentee voting law. Sheriffs and superintendents should honor the voting rights of jail residents by disseminating voting rights information, inviting registrars to facilitate registration of eligible voters in their facilities, asking eligible individuals whether they wish to apply for an absentee ballot, and taking other steps to protect the voting rights of all eligible Virginians in their custody.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, §1. Preventing someone from exercising their voting rights is illegal and undermines the presumption of innocence that is integral to our criminal legal system. This is also important because national statistics show that people of color and low-income individuals are disproportionately represented in jail populations. See Jail Inmates in 2017, Bureau of Justice Statistics (Apr. 2019), available at https://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/ji17_sum.pdf.

Hampton, VA 23661

Dear Sheriff Roberts:

The American Civil Liberties Union (“ACLU”) of Virginia is dedicated to protecting and expanding the freedom to vote for all Virginians 18 and over. Accordingly, we want to be sure sheriffs and superintendents of regional jails are aware of and fulfill their duty to protect the voting rights of all those who are currently detained in Virginia jails while awaiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, §1. Preventing someone from exercising their voting rights is illegal and undermines the presumption of innocence that is integral to our criminal legal system. This is also important because national statistics show that people of color and low-income individuals are disproportionately represented in jail populations. See Jail Inmates in 2017, Bureau of Justice Statistics (Apr. 2019), available at https://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/ji17_sum.pdf.

Virginia law permits “[a]ny person who is confined while awaiting trial or for having been convicted of a misdemeanor” to request an absentee ballot if their trial or release date is scheduled within three days preceding the election. Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). Virginia law also requires that, upon the request of any person who is confined awaiting trial in the same city or county where they are a resident, the individual “be taken to the polls to vote on election day if his trial date is postponed and he did not have an opportunity to vote absentee.” Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). This means that all registered voters detained in jail can request an absentee ballot and, under certain circumstances, must be taken by jail officials to a polling site on Election Day.

The deadlines for absentee ballots for the November 5, 2019, General Election are as follows:

- Absentee ballot by mail application request: 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, October 29, 2019.

- Absentee ballots to be returned to local general registrar's office: 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, November 5, 2019.

Sheriffs and superintendents have a duty to ensure those currently detained in jails are allowed to vote. Persons who are detained waiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence are two of the groups privileged to vote absentee under Virginia's excused-based absentee voting law. Sheriffs and superintendents should honor the voting rights of jail residents by disseminating voting rights information, inviting registrars to facilitate registration of eligible voters in their facilities, asking eligible individuals whether they wish to apply for an absentee ballot, and taking other steps to protect the voting rights of all eligible Virginians in their custody.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, §1. Preventing someone from exercising their voting rights is illegal and undermines the presumption of innocence that is integral to our criminal legal system. This is also important because national statistics show that people of color and low-income individuals are disproportionately represented in jail populations. See Jail Inmates in 2017, Bureau of Justice Statistics (Apr. 2019), available at https://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/ji17_sum.pdf.

Madison, VA 22727

Dear Sheriff Weaver:

The American Civil Liberties Union (“ACLU”) of Virginia is dedicated to protecting and expanding the freedom to vote for all Virginians 18 and over. Accordingly, we want to be sure sheriffs and superintendents of regional jails are aware of and fulfill their duty to protect the voting rights of all those who are currently detained in Virginia jails while awaiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, §1. Preventing someone from exercising their voting rights is illegal and undermines the presumption of innocence that is integral to our criminal legal system. This is also important because national statistics show that people of color and low-income individuals are disproportionately represented in jail populations. See Jail Inmates in 2017, Bureau of Justice Statistics (Apr. 2019), available at https://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/ji17_sum.pdf.

Virginia law permits “[a]ny person who is confined while awaiting trial or for having been convicted of a misdemeanor” to request an absentee ballot if their trial or release date is scheduled within three days preceding the election. Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). Virginia law also requires that, upon the request of any person who is confined awaiting trial in the same city or county where they are a resident, the individual “be taken to the polls to vote on election day if his trial date is postponed and he did not have an opportunity to vote absentee.” Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). This means that all registered voters detained in jail can request an absentee ballot and, under certain circumstances, must be taken by jail officials to a polling site on Election Day.

The deadlines for absentee ballots for the November 5, 2019, General Election are as follows:

- Absentee ballot by mail application request: 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, October 29, 2019.

- Absentee ballots to be returned to local general registrar's office: 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, November 5, 2019.

Sheriffs and superintendents have a duty to ensure those currently detained in jails are allowed to vote. Persons who are detained waiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence are two of the groups privileged to vote absentee under Virginia's excused-based absentee voting law. Sheriffs and superintendents should honor the voting rights of jail residents by disseminating voting rights information, inviting registrars to facilitate registration of eligible voters in their facilities, asking eligible individuals whether they wish to apply for an absentee ballot, and taking other steps to protect the voting rights of all eligible Virginians in their custody.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, §1. Preventing someone from exercising their voting rights is illegal and undermines the presumption of innocence that is integral to our criminal legal system. This is also important because national statistics show that people of color and low-income individuals are disproportionately represented in jail populations. See Jail Inmates in 2017, Bureau of Justice Statistics (Apr. 2019), available at https://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/ji17_sum.pdf.

Dear Sheriff Crawford:

The American Civil Liberties Union (“ACLU”) of Virginia is dedicated to protecting and expanding the freedom to vote for all Virginians 18 and over. Accordingly, we want to be sure sheriffs and superintendents of regional jails are aware of and fulfill their duty to protect the voting rights of all those who are currently detained in Virginia jails while awaiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, §1. Preventing someone from exercising their voting rights is illegal and undermines the presumption of innocence that is integral to our criminal legal system. This is also important because national statistics show that people of color and low-income individuals are disproportionately represented in jail populations. See Jail Inmates in 2017, Bureau of Justice Statistics (Apr. 2019), available at https://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/ji17_sum.pdf.

Virginia law permits “[a]ny person who is confined while awaiting trial or for having been convicted of a misdemeanor” to request an absentee ballot if their trial or release date is scheduled within three days preceding the election. Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). Virginia law also requires that, upon the request of any person who is confined awaiting trial in the same city or county where they are a resident, the individual “be taken to the polls to vote on election day if his trial date is postponed and he did not have an opportunity to vote absentee.” Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). This means that all registered voters detained in jail can request an absentee ballot and, under certain circumstances, must be taken by jail officials to a polling site on Election Day.

The deadlines for absentee ballots for the November 5, 2019, General Election are as follows:

- Absentee ballot by mail application request: 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, October 29, 2019.

- Absentee ballots to be returned to local general registrar's office: 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, November 5, 2019.

Sheriffs and superintendents have a duty to ensure those currently detained in jails are allowed to vote. Persons who are detained waiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence are two of the groups privileged to vote absentee under Virginia's excused-based absentee voting law. Sheriffs and superintendents should honor the voting rights of jail residents by disseminating voting rights information, inviting registrars to facilitate registration of eligible voters in their facilities, asking eligible individuals whether they wish to apply for an absentee ballot, and taking other steps to protect the voting rights of all eligible Virginians in their custody.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, §1. Preventing someone from exercising their voting rights is illegal and undermines the presumption of innocence that is integral to our criminal legal system. This is also important because national statistics show that people of color and low-income individuals are disproportionately represented in jail populations. See Jail Inmates in 2017, Bureau of Justice Statistics (Apr. 2019), available at https://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/ji17_sum.pdf.

Virginia law permits “[a]ny person who is confined while awaiting trial or for having been convicted of a misdemeanor” to request an absentee ballot if their trial or release date is scheduled within three days preceding the election. Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). Virginia law also requires that, upon the request of any person who is confined awaiting trial in the same city or county where they are a resident, the individual “be taken to the polls to vote on election day if his trial date is postponed and he did not have an opportunity to vote absentee.” Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). This means that all registered voters detained in jail can request an absentee ballot and, under certain circumstances, must be taken by jail officials to a polling site on Election Day.

Dear Sheriff Staton:

The American Civil Liberties Union (“ACLU”) of Virginia is dedicated to protecting and expanding the freedom to vote for all Virginians 18 and over. Accordingly, we want to be sure sheriffs and superintendents of regional jails are aware of and fulfill their duty to protect the voting rights of all those who are currently detained in Virginia jails while awaiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, §1. Preventing someone from exercising their voting rights is illegal and undermines the presumption of innocence that is integral to our criminal legal system. This is also important because national statistics show that people of color and low-income individuals are disproportionately represented in jail populations. See Jail Inmates in 2017, Bureau of Justice Statistics (Apr. 2019), available at https://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/ji17_sum.pdf.

Virginia law permits “[a]ny person who is confined while awaiting trial or for having been convicted of a misdemeanor” to request an absentee ballot if their trial or release date is scheduled within three days preceding the election. Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). Virginia law also requires that, upon the request of any person who is confined awaiting trial in the same city or county where they are a resident, the individual “be taken to the polls to vote on election day if his trial date is postponed and he did not have an opportunity to vote absentee.” Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). This means that all registered voters detained in jail can request an absentee ballot and, under certain circumstances, must be taken by jail officials to a polling site on Election Day.

The deadlines for absentee ballots for the November 5, 2019, General Election are as follows:

- Absentee ballot by mail application request: 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, October 29, 2019.

- Absentee ballots to be returned to local general registrar's office: 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, November 5, 2019.

Sheriffs and superintendents have a duty to ensure those currently detained in jails are allowed to vote. Persons who are detained waiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence are two of the groups privileged to vote absentee under Virginia's excused-based absentee voting law. Sheriffs and superintendents should honor the voting rights of jail residents by disseminating voting rights information, inviting registrars to facilitate registration of eligible voters in their facilities, asking eligible individuals whether they wish to apply for an absentee ballot, and taking other steps to protect the voting rights of all eligible Virginians in their custody.

Surry, VA 23883

Dear Sheriff Turner:

The American Civil Liberties Union (“ACLU”) of Virginia is dedicated to protecting and expanding the freedom to vote for all Virginians 18 and over. Accordingly, we want to be sure sheriffs and superintendents of regional jails are aware of and fulfill their duty to protect the voting rights of all those who are currently detained in Virginia jails while awaiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, §1. Preventing someone from exercising their voting rights is illegal and undermines the presumption of innocence that is integral to our criminal legal system. This is also important because national statistics show that people of color and low-income individuals are disproportionately represented in jail populations. See Jail Inmates in 2017, Bureau of Justice Statistics (Apr. 2019), available at https://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/ji17_sum.pdf.

Virginia law permits “[a]ny person who is confined while awaiting trial or for having been convicted of a misdemeanor” to request an absentee ballot if their trial or release date is scheduled within three days preceding the election. Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). Virginia law also requires that, upon the request of any person who is confined awaiting trial in the same city or county where they are a resident, the individual “be taken to the polls to vote on election day if his trial date is postponed and he did not have an opportunity to vote absentee.” Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). This means that all registered voters detained in jail can request an absentee ballot and, under certain circumstances, must be taken by jail officials to a polling site on Election Day.

Dear Sheriff Deeds:

The American Civil Liberties Union (“ACLU”) of Virginia is dedicated to protecting and expanding the freedom to vote for all Virginians 18 and over. Accordingly, we want to be sure sheriffs and superintendents of regional jails are aware of and fulfill their duty to protect the voting rights of all those who are currently detained in Virginia jails while awaiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence.

Under the U.S. Constitution, those held in jails are legally permitted vote unless they are otherwise ineligible due to age, citizenship status, or a prior felony conviction. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, §1. Preventing someone from exercising their voting rights is illegal and undermines the presumption of innocence that is integral to our criminal legal system. This is also important because national statistics show that people of color and low-income individuals are disproportionately represented in jail populations. See Jail Inmates in 2017, Bureau of Justice Statistics (Apr. 2019), available at https://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/ji17_sum.pdf.

Virginia law permits “[a]ny person who is confined while awaiting trial or for having been convicted of a misdemeanor” to request an absentee ballot if their trial or release date is scheduled within three days preceding the election. Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). Virginia law also requires that, upon the request of any person who is confined awaiting trial in the same city or county where they are a resident, the individual “be taken to the polls to vote on election day if his trial date is postponed and he did not have an opportunity to vote absentee.” Va. Code § 24.2-700(5). This means that all registered voters detained in jail can request an absentee ballot and, under certain circumstances, must be taken by jail officials to a polling site on Election Day.

The deadlines for absentee ballots for the November 5, 2019, General Election are as follows:

- Absentee ballot by mail application request: 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, October 29, 2019.

Virginia

701 E. Franklin Street
Suite 1412
(804) 644-8022
Richmond VA 23219
acluva.org

- Absentee ballots to be returned to local general registrar's office: 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, November 5, 2019.

Sheriffs and superintendents have a duty to ensure those currently detained in jails are allowed to vote. Persons who are detained waiting trial or serving a misdemeanor sentence are two of the groups privileged to vote absentee under Virginia's excused-based absentee voting law. Sheriffs and superintendents should honor the voting rights of jail residents by disseminating voting rights information, inviting registrars to facilitate registration of eligible voters in their facilities, asking eligible individuals whether they wish to apply for an absentee ballot, and taking other steps to protect the voting rights of all eligible Virginians in their custody.
